以下 発表した劇のシナリオ

Once upon a time, there was a Japanese student from Shinshu university, who was very interested in international peace studies. His dream was to ask Mr. Putin how university students can contribute to peace.

One day, after class, he came to a professor;

Student: Professor, how can we reach complete non-use of military power in the world?

Professor: My friend, it is actually idealistic, but it won't work without international cooperation.

Professor had a meeting with the president of the university. They discussed about development of international exchange programs.

Professor: Today I was asked about non-use of military power by an enthusiastic student. I told him that it was a little idealistic, but what about creating international summer school on security and peace studies?

The president thought deeply about it, looked out of the window, and said:

President: ...Yes.

The next morning, President was invited to the evening party to celebrate the mayor's birthday.

President: We decided to host a summer school on security and peace studies in our university. Don't you think this is a perfect opportunity to promote our city's image abroad as a tool of soft power.

The mayor thought deeply about it, looked out of the window, and said:

Mayor: ...Yes.

Few weeks later, the Mayor had a casual lunch with the governor.

Mayor: The president of Shinshu university told me that they are going to organize a summer school about peace studies. The city decided to make use of this to promote the city's image abroad. Could the prefecture provide financial support to fund students who cannot participate in these programs due to unequal access to education?

The governor thought deeply about it, looked out of the window, and said:

Governor: ...Yes.

A month later, the governor went on a business trip to Tokyo to attend the annual meeting with the cabinet ministers.

Governor: The prefecture intends to support an university program, I think the university would be honored to have you take part in this program and make a speech about human rights?

Prime Minister Abe thought deeply about it, looked out of the window, and said:

Abe: …Yes.

Abe attended the Eastern Economic Forum, where he met President Putin.

Abe: Recently there are discussions about human rights, inequality, it made me think about organizing an online multilateral program about peace education? That would be a step forward to contribute to world peace.

President Putin thought deeply about it, looked out of the window, and….
